Generative AI is reshaping healthcare—from clinical workflows to patient engagement—but most initiatives stall at the proof-of-concept stage. This exclusive executive dinner brings together senior healthcare and health tech leaders to explore what it takes to move GenAI from ideation to production. Leapfrog Technology, AWS, and CVision will share real-world strategies for scaling GenAI across teams, integrating agents into workflows, and building resilient infrastructure for AI-powered innovation.

With GenAI agents emerging as the next wave of transformation, this session offers a behind-the-scenes look at what's working now—demystifying the fast-evolving world of GenAI techniques, model architectures, and deployment patterns.
